Gender & Aggression in High School
Year 1 Data from the School Safety Survey

Perpetrating Aggression
Male students (N = 197) reported in engaging in physical & verbal aggression more frequently than female students (N = 248) in the past 6 months.

Experiencing Aggression
Male students (N = 197) reported in experiencing physical & verbal aggression more frequently than female students (N = 248) in the past 6 months.

Linking Experiences
There were significant correlations between being a target of aggression and being an aggressor. Meaning that the more one was a target, the more one was an aggressor (and vice versa). The higher the correlation, the potentially stronger the link.

Correlations between being a victim and an aggressor

Results from Year 1 of the School Safety Survey conducted by the Social Relations Collaborative & National Institute of Justice.